

Updates

Through feedback from customers we have made some changes to the recently released Dashboard.

There was no real method of shielding the Dashboard from staff who may have had the ability to view orders. To overcome this we have made the dashboard a definite option in the security settings as below. Therefore you will need to check the option if you want it on. The system default will have the option unchecked.

There was a problem with the figures showing in the orders review section which has been corrected.

We have changed away from the golden text to black to improve the readability of the screen and changed the graph type to bar charts.

Quickview and Hover

In April we released these new features and customers loved the functions however asked that they be extended onto the following pages:

- On Sale Items
- New Items
- Top Sellers
- Most Viewed
